BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description. I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE,

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. IS known to have been kidnapped from a field near Germantown, between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock, on the 30th ult. whilst at work alone, a Free Black Man, named HENRY HUDSON, aged between 21 and 22 years, of the height of five feet five inches, very black complexion and dark eyes, has a scar under his left arm, between the wrist and elbow, occasioned by the cut of an axe.

He is by occupation a farmer, a native of Kent county, in the state of Delaware, had on a blue cloth roundabout jacket, old black silk vest, corded velvet pantaloons, and a wool hat.

He is a very civil, inoffensive man, with rather a down look. There is reason to suppose that he was decoyed into a carriage, and conveyed southward.

Any information respecting him will be thankfully received. Keepers of turnpike gates, toll bridges, and tavern's, are particularly requested to give such information as may be in their power.

Owners of, and those entitled (being all who served three years and upwards,) to warrants of the above description, are informed that, under the authority of a law of the United States, locations will, on the 4th day of July next, be permitted to be made on some valuable lands on the Scioto river, and the head waters of the Great Miami river—And as it will be the last opportunity to acquire good land, owners of warrants will do well not to neglect it.

Any warrants forwarded to the subscriber, will be located on such land as he may suppose most likely to please his employers. CADWALLADER WALLACE.
Chillicothe, (Ohio) April 15 19t*

For Sale or Lease,

THE following tracts of land in Charles county, Maryland: one lying on the Potomac, at the mouth of Pomonkey creek, containing three hundred and forty acres, about 18 miles from Alexandria, the larger portion level land, of a stiff soil, well adapted to the cultivation of corn, wheat and tobacco, and equal in fertility to any in the neighborhood. On this farm is one of the most elegant sites for building of all those fine heights which border the Potomac, commanding the most extensive view of the adjacent country, both in Virginia and Maryland, for more than twenty miles up and down the river: located in a genteel neighborhood, it would make an agreeable residence, and from its proximity to market, with the advantage of the best navigation, an extremely profitable farm.—The tenant's houses would accommodate the negroes for its cultivation.

A Tract, about one mile back from the former, containing 334 acres, a large portion in wood, white and red oak, and some chesnut; the remainder a tenement in tolerable repair, the whole a high stiff soil, similar to the one above mentioned.

A Tract, lying at the mouth of Mattawoman Creek, about 25 miles from Alexandria, the whole first rate flat river land, now completely enclosed.—On this tract is a noted fishery, called Rum Point, at which there has been cleared upwards of two thousand dollars per annum, and where independent of the fish sold on the shore, there might be put up from one to two thousand barrels every season; besides the profits of the fishery, the advantage of manuring the farm with the offal of the shore, the whole, with a small portion of industry, might be made to produce ten barrels of corn per acre. On the shore, are a dwelling house, houses for holding salt, and curing any quantity of fish, and for the accommodation of hands.

A Tract, lying about 14 miles from the last mentioned, containing 336 acres, more than 200 of which are in wood, and would cut from 25 to 30 cords per acre, within one mile of the river, where wood has rarely sold for less than five dollars per cord. It will be divided into 50 or 25 acre lots, to suit purchasers.—If preferred, the wood will be sold standing, for so much per acre.

If not disposed of, previous to the first day of Sept. next, the above mentioned arable lands, will be leased out, upon advantageous terms, for five or seven years, at the option of the lessees.

Application to be made to the subscriber, residing near the head of Mattawoman Creek, Charles county, Maryland.

No news yet of the ratification of the Treaty with Spain. We wish the event may not shew we have been too sanguine in our expectations of its speedily receiving the necessary sanction of the King of Spain. What is given with an ill grace is more than half refused. Rumor speaks of considerable efforts being made to defeat the treaty. May they have just such success as they deserve. [*Nat. Int. The present scarcity of a circulating medium, and the general embarrassment felt from the toleration of fictitious banking companies, we are told, now occupies the particular attention of the Secretary of the Treasury, and that at the next meeting of congress, he purposes to invite legislative attention to this interesting subject. The utility of such an investigation must be obvious to all, as the spirit of the 1st art. and 10th sec. of the constitution which provides that no state shall "emit bills of credit;" and that nothing but gold and silver is a legal tender in payment of debts, has been, in the opinion of many, too long been permitted to slumber; for every body knows that these bills of credit (bank notes) must drive the gold and silver out of circulation, and leave nothing else but paper to tender in payment. When the local bank paper issues are put a stop to, specie will then, and not till then, be sufficient for the ordinary purposes of trade. These are our sentiments, without pretending to anticipate what the honorable secretary's may be. [Washington Gazette July 19.

A letter from Pittsburg, (Penn.) states that most of the country banks have stopped paying specie, and that they have nothing for change in Pittsburg but city tickets, worn out years since.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

The following case was determined at the Circuit Court of the United States, for the District of Columbia.

Christopher Armat,
The Union Bank of Georgetown.

This was a suit brought for the recovery of 100 dollars from the Union Bank. It appeared from the case stated, that a note for 100 dollars, belonging to the plaintiff, was cut in two, and was sent by two mails, for the purpose of being remitted with safety, from Gloucester, in Virginia, to Baltimore. One half of the note was received, and the other half never came to hand. On proof of the facts, the plaintiff applied to the bank for the payment of 100 dollars, and offered to indemnify the bank against any claim that might be founded on the other half of the note, when produced. The bank refused to pay the plaintiff more than 50 dollars; conceiving that they would be liable to pay by custom the other 50 dollars, when the other part of the note was produced. 2 Campb. 211, was cited.

Per Cur: In this case, the note must be considered, by being severed, as destroyed. The half of a bank note is not a negotiable instrument, and could give no title to a bona fide holder, who received it after it was severed, to recover upon it. As it is admitted that the plaintiff was the real owner of the note, when its negotiability ceased, by being cut in two, he is entitled to recover the whole amount from the bank.

LOSS OF THE SCH. SEA FLOWER.

It is stated in the Portland Argus, that, on the 30th ult. the schr. Trio, Capt. Greenlaw, of the Port of Castine, while standing in for Deer Island, the weather being very thick, ran afoul of the fishing sch. Sea Flower, John Carver master, of Vinalhaven, and sunk her instantly—by which unfortunate accident a Mr. Brown, of Vinalhaven, was drowned. The remaining two, capt. Carver, & Mr. Arey, with difficulty forced themselves out of the companion way while the water was rushing in upon them, and were saved by means of ropes thrown to them from the Trio. The crew of the Sea-Flower, were all below when the Trio struck her. Mr. Brown has left a wife and four children to lament his untimely fate.

LOSS OF THE PILOT BOAT, MATTHEW L. BEVAN.

This boat was out on a cruize in the heavy gale of the 13th of May last, and has not since been heard of. The following pilots (besides two hired boys) have unfortunately perished while pursuing their laborious and useful occupation, viz. Samuel Rowland, John Grenod, George Marner, Matthew Harris, and Samuel Marshall.—Their loss is the more to be deplored, as they were skilful men in their profession. They have left widows and numerous families of children unprovided for, and now in much distress, their little all being invested in the boat, and no insurance.

☞ A subscription is opened at the Coffee House, for the relief of the above families, and the contributions of the public are respectfully solicited.

Salem, Mass. July 13.

Much alarm was excited in Boston on Tuesday last, by the death of three persons in one family, in Purchase street, supposed to be of the yellow fever; but, as the disease did not spread, and the town was otherwise remarkably healthy, (more so, say the Board of Health, than it has been for many years,) the alarm soon subsided. No case of yellow fever has since been known within that time.

New-York, July 19.

The Coroner was called yesterday to view the body of William Wehrkamp, a native of Germany, about 40 years of age, (much respected by his acquaintance and employers,) who was unfortunately drowned at Fly-Market slip, on Saturday evening, while in the act of bathing. This is the third case of the same nature that has occurred within 10 days.

DISTRESSING EVENT.

On Monday, the 28th ult. about sunset, Mr. Samuel Nason, of Freeport, was instantaneously killed by lightning. He was discovered by his wife, probably within one minute after he was struck, lying upon his face, about 25 feet from his house, and 8 from a hog pen into which he had been putting straw. His body was much burnt from his head down the breast to the left ancle, his clothes next his flesh were considerably burnt. His hat, and shoe upon the left foot, were perforated. No marks of the lightning were left on the ground or buildings. Mr. Nason was about fifty years of age, and has left a wife and three children. [Port. Gaz.

"At this place all is pomp and shew.—Another princess has come into the world; the christening of which took place on the 3d inst. and has cost the nation some thousands of dollars, which, I think, would have been better applied to the paying of the sailors and soldiers, many of whom have not received one dollar for eight years! This is perhaps, one of the most tyrannical, despotic, and corrupt governments under heaven; how long it will last, is difficult to tell; but I would not insure it many years. We never have any news here, unless what we get from English or American papers, which I have not seen of late date."

"Rio Janeiro, May 25.

"I am sorry I cannot forward you the latest paper I have seen from Buenos Ayres, which announces Belgrano being at the head of affairs there, and that he has already made an armistice with Artigas, preparatory to a peace and union, which I have no doubt has ere this taken place, from which we may calculate upon very important changes; and I have some hopes that they will now go on well—for this, every friend to those people may thank the King of Spain, for his threatened expedition to the River la Plata; these people have not as yet had an enemy to contend with; which is the reason they have been at war among themselves; and I sincerely hope the expedition talked of so much, will actually proceed to the river—nothing can do these people greater service."

QUERIES CONCERNING THE COMET, &c.

1. Is not a comet a body throwing out original rays of light like the Sun, without reflection?

2. Do not the direct and superior rays of the Sun act upon the body of the Comet as upon the bodies of the Planets, in casting an umbra or shade some considerable distance beyond the station of its sphere?

3. If the above queries are affirmed, would not the original light of the Comet be only perceptible in the aforesaid umbra or shade, its other rays being wholly absorbed by the intenser rays of the Sun?

4. Would not the umbra or tail (as it is called) be projected from that side of the Comet farthest distant from the Sun?—And, lastly, is not the tail of the Comet always in that position? ASTRON.

ONE DAY LATER FROM PARIS.

We have translated the following articles from the Journal of Paris, of the 9th of June, handed us this morning, by Capt. Holdridge.

Some singular travellers, recently arrived at Bordeaux, excite great curiosity.—The principal one is Cornelius Taykaonta, chief of the Oneida nation to the west of N. York; his suite is composed of 7 persons, 3 of which are women. It appears that a strong desire to visit Europe, and particularly France, has made him abandon the U. States, where he received a small pension from the American government. We may, however, presume, that he will find in public curiosity a manner of exercising hospitality, less simple, but more abundant, than that which is practised in the forests of the Ohio, the Mississippi and the Delaware. These savages were to exhibit themselves publicly, the 8th of this month, in the saloon of the Athenaum of Bordeaux.

A private letter from Frankfort, 26th of May, says, "Among the important objects which have arrested my attention, I have not lost sight, as you may well suppose, of the movements of the public feeling, which are manifested in Germany.—To judge of these movements by the inquietude they cause our government, one would believe himself, at the very moment preceding a great revolution, that he saw conspirators in all classes of the community, and seditious persons in all the public places.

The police was never more active, more dark and mysterious. Even to the cut of the hair and fashion of the coat, all suspected.—The immense number of young men who in the German universities, have united themselves in the Teutonic Association, are the objects of peculiar watchfulness. It would be impossible, however, upon the whole surface of Germany, to cite a single fact which has borne the character of sedition—or a single word which might be considered as a provocation to revolt. All the desires of the German people have till this day been expressed in respectful petitions and representations.

We cannot however dissemble, that the anxiety of government is, to a certain point, well founded. Discontent is almost general, and it is besides augmented by the entire stagnation of commerce and the progressive decline of German industry.—The enormous burdens which result from immense armies, maintained in complete peace, a prohibitory system, to which each state has recourse, to augment its own resources, and which tends to destroy all commerce, since, to enter Germany alone, you must pass the custom-houses of 38 confederated states; such are the principal causes of the afflicting picture which these countries present.

[The Teutonic Association has for its object the political union of Germany, by the concentration of patriotic ideas & sentiments.]

In the Second Chamber of Baden (assembly) a formal motion has been made, relative to the introduction of the entire liberty of the press in that Dutchy.

A general commission is about to be established at Frankfort, charged with certain alterations in the German universities. Each university will send a deputy who will set on this commission.

A Panorama of Jerusalem by Prevot, is now attracting a crowd of curious visitors.

Letters from Lions, of May 20, speak of the extraordinary success, in that town, of M. Fabre d'Olivet, who, by a peculiar method of his own, had developed the faculty of hearing in many deaf and dumb, of both sexes and different ages. The experiments made to prove the fact of hearing, were in the apartments of M. Mottet Degerand, president of the chamber of commerce, in presence of more than 200 persons—among whom were baron Rambaud, the mayor, the members of the municipal council, and many ecclesiastics and physicians.

A letter from Paris, of the 27th of May, published in an English paper, says, "The royal bounty has not been invoked in vain. The king, free to follow the dictates of his heart, since the rights of his throne are respected, has commanded the minister of the interior to present to him the report, upon which he had recently put off his decision. His majesty then authorised the recall of new exiles, upon the list of the 38."

The list of the 38, is now reduced to 25, who will come in successively, provided they ask permission in respectful terms, and be not of the number of the regicides.

The return of General Grouchy and the duke of Bassano, is deferred, notwithstanding the solicitations of the duke D'Angouleme in their favor.

EXTRACTS FROM MR. EVANS' TOUR.

Having enjoyed much entertainment in perusing Mr. Evans' "Pedestrian Tour," we have selected the following from among his many perilous adventures, with a view to commend the book to the notice of the public, as containing much entertaing and useful matter, hoping that many of our readers may procure it, when they can accompany the traveller in all his tour, and partake with him, at least in fancy, in all his toils and all his pleasures; though they may not perhaps, from the want of his 'enthusiasm, fatigue and hunger,' relish on his fare as he did, yet they will be free from the danger and hardships endured by him.

[Savannah Georgian.

The upper part of the state of New-York is, comparatively a wilderness.—There are here many Indian reserves. They are solitary places; they are dark spots on the face of civilization. The tawney inhabitants of these gloomy forests generally establish themselves in the most remote situations, and render the access to them indirect and difficult. Whenever I entered their villages they seemed, by their manner towards each other, to say, "this civil wretch has found out our retreat."—There is a shyness and wildness in their aspect, no less significant than such a declaration. No cause of wonder is it that these persecuted beings look with a jealous eye upon the descendants of those Europeans who drove their ancestors from the pleasant regions of the east. They see no end to the avarice, to the claims of the progress of white men; and view themselves between the horrors of civilization and the illimitable expanse of the Pacific Ocean.

Barbarous as are the Indians of North America, they possess much greatness, and many virtues. Considering their prejudices against us, which prejudices are incident to their education, and by no means groundless, they evince much forbearance and even friendship towards us.

Near one of the Indian reserves, I met five of these children of nature. As I had not seen one for fifteen years before, I was much interested in their appearance. In approaching them I presented a grave but friendly aspect. Their gravity at first exceeded mine, but they soon became rather sociable. After some little conversation we parted, not however until they had taken much notice of my "varm drase." In the course of a few hours, I passed what is called an Indian opening. It was an exposed situation of many miles in extent; the weather was severe, the snow deep, and the wind continually whirled it about the unsheltered traveller.

Not knowing the extent of this opening, and fearing that night might find me without fuel or materials for a tent, I exerted myself to reach in season the adjoining wood. By this means I became fatigued, and very much in want of refreshment. I had no provisions with me, and indeed no means of carrying any. I soon perceived in the edge of the forest a small log hut; but poverty resided here, and I could obtain only an ear of corn—this, however, I found palatable and nutritious. Dionysius did not like the fare of the public tables, under the institutions of Lycurgus, because, as the cook said, it was not seasoned with fatigue and hunger. Towards evening as I was travelling through a dark wood, I discovered what I presumed to be an Indian trail, and for the sake of adventure concluded to follow it. It snowed fast, darkness was approaching, and the wilderness presented a dreary aspect. Had not my heart been afraid of me, it would have communicated a secret alarm to my imagination, and then I should have seen around me a thousand ambuscades. But I had so often cried down to its contemptible obtrusiveness, that it feigned, at least, a tranquil mood.

The snow was deep, and the track exceedingly serpentine; so that I seemed, occasionally, to be travelling back to the place at which I commenced the adventure. It, however, finally led me over a gradual descent into a dark plain. The first evidence I had of there being human habitations here, was a few sticks of recently cut wood piled above the snow.—Soon after, I heard the distinct bay of dogs. At length I came in view of a large collection of wig-wams. It was now, however, so dark, and it snowed so fast, that I could only see obscurely the objects which presented themselves. But upon going nearer, my attention was arrested by the appearance of many Indians going in their blankets, from several of the huts to a long and low building, which I afterwards ascertained was their council house. Thinking that I should here have a good opportunity to see many of the Indians together, I knocked at the door, lifted the latch, and entered. I made a slight bow and took off my cap. They presented me in return, a serious and unmoved aspect, but offered me a seat. Soon after I thought that I perceived in them some degree of timidity. They had, within a few days, been performing some religious ceremonies, and were probably unusually superstitious.—They had been wearing masks, for the purpose of driving the evil spirit from their village; and, perhaps, they began to think that they had not effected their object. I endeavored, however, to render my society agreeable to them. When I entered the council house, there were about fifty or sixty persons there. The building was about eighty feet long, and about twelve or fourteen feet wide. Across the beams over head were several poles, hanging from which were some traces of mouldy corn; & on each side of the building were benches for seats. There was no floor to the house, and at each end of it there was, upon the ground, a large council fire. At a little distance from these, there were two parties engaged in a war dance. This is a custom in which these Indians will not relinquish. Some of them were naked, and many of them covered with ornaments. They wore strings of trinkets around their ancles, the object of which appeared to be to produce music in dancing. They also had much jewellery in their ears and noses.

In their war dance, they imitate every part of an engagement: the onset, retreat of the enemy, pursuit, &c. Here the young warrior acquires a martial spirit and the love of fame; and here too the aged veteran reminds his tribe of what he has done, and of what his spirit tells him he could do again. During the dance, I was much interested in the appearance of a youth, a son of a chief, whose zeal for his nation caused him, in the feigned pursuit of the enemy, to leap over the prescribed circle of dance, into the fire. An old and decrepid chief too, here evinced no less devotion to his country. This appearance excited admiration and pity. He was emaciated by disease, scarred in battle, and bent with weight of years. He evinced in his efforts the greatest energy of spirit, whilst such was his decrepitude that he could not lift his eyes from the ground.—His trinkets rattled upon his aged limbs, and his wheezing lungs sounded in his hollow trunk. Poor child of nature!—Heaven careth for thee.

The dance commenced with the beat of an old kettle drum, and was ended by a rap with a club upon the benches. At the conclusion of each dance one of the chiefs addressed the company, and passed a pipe of tobacco, as a token, which they understood better than myself.

In the course of an hour or two after I left this scene of war, I entered one of the huts. Many came here to see me, and seemed desirous to know from whence I come, whither I was going, &c. A few of them could imperfectly speak English.—An old chief attracted by his ugliness, my particular attention. He was about sixty years of age; his skin was coarse and shrivelled, his face was covered with scars, and one of his eyes was protuberant, bloodshot and sightless, and his hair was matted by thick red paint, having the appearance of blood. Some of the men were likely, the old women squallid, and the young ones uninteresting. The children, however, were pretty.

It is said that the Indians of North America treat their wives with coldness and neglect; but I am of a different opinion. Certain it is that their affection towards their offspring is lively and tender.

After taking some refreshment I laid down under deerskins, by a good fire, and slept well. I trusted to my dogs for security. In the morning I feasted upon venison, and conversed with several of the Indians upon a variety of subjects, particularly upon the good will which ought to prevail among mankind, without any reference to a difference of complexion.—The Indians were very desirous of obtaining my dogs, and would have given me a very high price for them. I did not know but they might wish me out of the way, for the purpose of procuring them.

The appearance of the village is interesting. It is situated upon a plain, and contains about 100 huts. Through the centre of the village runs a narrow serpentine creek, which affords in summer, an abundance of fish. The name of the creek is Tobewanto, and that of the tribe Tondanwandeys.

From a Poem on Woman.

WOMAN.

There is a language by the virgin made,
Not read, but felt, not uttered, but betray'd,
A mute communion, yet so wond'rous sweet, [repeat,
Eyes must impart what tongue can ne'er
'Tis written on her cheeks and meaning brows, [vows;
In one short glance, whole volumes it a-
In one short moment tells of many days,
In one short speaking silence ALL conveys.
Joy, sorrow, love recounts, hope, pity, fear,
And looks a sigh, and weeps without a tear.
Oh, 'tis so chaste, so touching, so refin'd;
So soft, so wistful, so sincere, so kind,
Were eyes melodious, and could music shower
From orient rays new striking on a flower,
Such heavenly music from that glance might rise,
And angels own the language of the skies

Lands for Sale.

BY VIRTUE of a power of attorney from William S. Courts to the subscriber, will be sold at public sale,

On WEDNESDAY, the 18th AUGUST, in Port Tobacco, that valuable tract of land whereon John H. Barnes at present resides called lying and being in Charles county Maryland, containing between three and four hundred acres. This land is handsomely situated, lying immediately on Mattawoman Creek, at least one third of which is in wood, with a sufficient quantity of marsh land for grazing—that part of the land which is in cultivation is well adapted to the growth of corn, wheat and tobacco, and with proper care would be equal, if not superior to any land in that neighborhood.

ALSO,

At the same time and place, will be offered for sale the plantation at present in the occupancy of Francis & Sam'l Wheeler, lying about one mile from the above place, containing about four hundred acres. As it is presumed that persons wishing to purchase will first view the premises, it is thought unnecessary to give a more particular description thereof. The terms of sale will be as follows: viz. possession given on the first day of January next, at which time one third of the purchase money will be required, the remaining two thirds at one and two years the purchaser giving bond with approved security with interest.—Upon the payment of the whole purchase money, a sufficient deed will be executed to the purchaser.

Sale of Valuable Land.

BY virtue of a deed of trust, the subscriber will offer at public sale, at Mr. Hardy's tavern, Piscataway, on Thursday, 5th August, next, several tracts or parcels of land, on Mattawoman Run, about three miles from Piscataway, lying partly in Prince George's county, and partly in Charles county, called and known by the names of Strife, Bonton enlarged, Friendship & Smallwood's meadows, Thompson's Hoop Thickets, and four acres of land adjoining, containing in the whole 420 acres, 1 rood, 18 perch, more or less; which said lands were heretofore conveyed by Thomas Mundell, esq. trustee for the sale of the real estate of N. Blacklock, late of Charles co. deceased, to N. F. Blacklock, late of Alexandria, and by him to the subscriber.

These lands have been, I am told, considerably improved lately by the use of clover and plaister their susceptibility of still further improvement by these easy means, and their nearness to the Potomac, render them certainly very desirable.

Terms of sale—two thousand dollars to be paid on the day of sale, and the balance on the 1st day of January, 1820, when possession will be given. Upon the payment of the whole of the purchase money, the subscriber will execute a good and sufficient deed, conveying to the purchaser all the right and title of the late N. F. Blacklock, subject to the widow's dower.

JOHN HOPKINS

Hill and Dale, April 20.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25
